

Cookie Policy

What are cookies? How are they used?

A cookie is a text-only string of information that a website's server transfers to your computer's browser and is stored there. Cookies are created when you use your browser to visit a website. Cookies are used to operate websites more efficiently, to improve performance, but also to provide information to the owners of the website.

What kinds of cookies are used by this website? What for?

Our website uses several types of cookies, each of which has a specific function, as shown in the table below:

TYPES OF COOKIES AND FUNCTIONS

Browser cookies

These cookies help a website to work correctly and are used to collect information about how visitors use the website. This information is used to compile reports and help us improve the website. Cookies collect information in an anonymous way, including the number of visitors to the website, where visitors come from and the pages they have visited.

Analytics cookies

These cookies are used, for example, by Google Analytics for a statistical analysis about how visitors move around the website through computers or mobile apps, the number of web pages visited or the number of clicks made on a page while browsing a website.

Click here for an overview of Google Privacy (<https://support.google.com/analytics/answer/6004245>)

Third-Party Cookies

These cookies are set by a different organisation to the owner of the website you are visiting. The use of these cookies does not normally entail the processing of personal data. Third-party cookies come from ads in other websites, such as advertising, present on the website displayed. They can be used to track the use of a website for marketing purposes.

How can I disable cookies?

Most browsers (Internet Explorer, Firefox, etc.) are configured to accept cookies. However, most browsers make it possible to check and even disable cookies through your browser settings. However, you need to be aware that if you disable browser or function cookies, you may cause that website to have problems and/or limit the service offered. To change the settings, follow the procedures indicated by the several browsers found under "Options" or "Preferences". For more information about cookies, read the regulations (<http://www.garanteprivacy.it/web/guest/home/docweb/-/docweb-display/docweb/3167231>).